Welcome to our seventh official number of Fluxus E-Magazine.

Some of you saw our back issues, we hope you liked and participate in this occasion. For those who have not had the opportunity to hear about: Fluxus E-Magazine is an electronic publication that seeks to provide a showcase for all kinds of art or design projects that has been managed by the passion and fun of its author.

We do not expect to become an art magazine or cutting conceptual design or academic, therefore not expect that from their jobs, although this is not a reason for not publishing projects that begin in the classroom.

We want to see their proposals and products in the magazine accompanied by a text maximum of one page (US Letter, font size 12 points and 1.5 of space between lines), we are not interested in treaties, and descriptions of the process of creative and constructive work, on the one looking up from the poetic language from the passion, fun and pleasure to make them produce what they do and therefore are known.

We are interested to read you from the emotions and thoughts that they generate these activities, as the case may be, a hobby, a craft or a justification of life. This time the subject of your project or text to be related to Body this is the guideline for number 7 of Fluxus Magazine.

The text does not have to talk only of spiritual value is to make art or design in their lives, can also discuss the kinds of sensations and emotions involved in the particular job that is sent to this publication, but it related to the topic official this issue: Body. Which can be developed as a theme for your project, or what they represent in their daily lives, or the point of view that you have on Body.
